The Aura of Flowers Collection

by Catherine J. Martzloff

"In every petal, a whisper of possibility--each color and shadow a reminder to keep reaching toward the light."

THE COLLECTION

The Aura of Flowers collection gathers a series of floral works that explore more than just blooms—they trace the atmosphere surrounding them. Through light, color, gesture, and shadow—each treated as its own presence—these paintings capture moments that feel both fleeting and quietly radiant. Whether rooted in the garden or imagined from memory, the works invite the viewer to sense the presence of flowers beyond their shape—to notice the aura they leave behind.

THE ARTIST catherine

Catherine is an East Coast oil painter whose work explores the quiet presence of everyday objects and the emotional resonance of light and shadow. Through still life compositions, she weaves together past and present, balancing what is seen with what is sensed. Her vibrant, intuitive use of color and form reflects an internal landscape – a visual language shaped by memory, mood, and a spiritual connection to beauty. Each painting becomes a meditation on time, presence, and the subtle ways light lives within and around us.
